

Coaching Skills For Managers™

overview

Coaching Skills For Managers™ is a program designed to shift leadership practices from the old “command & control” model to a more inclusive, participative style. This interactive training program delivers powerful coaching skills for managers of all levels. The training teaches leaders’ new skills to better align staff’s experiences, traits and skills with requirements of the job.

Participants will also discover more about themselves as they learn how to use their developing coaching skills for the greater good of the organization. Utilizing a blend of brief instruction, demonstration and feedback, the training program provides interactive practice opportunities for each skill set that managers will use in when back at work.
